

Employer: Koo, Chow & Company LLP

Job Title: Financial Analyst

Job Site: 767 N. Hill St., Suite 500, Los Angeles, CA 90012

Full-Time: 40 hours per week

Job duties: Analyze corporate clients' financial documents and information to determine its present and future financial performance, and identify trends and recommend improvements accordingly. Analyze and support the corporate planning, analysis, and reporting processes. Review clients' present and past operation/financial data such as costs, revenues, and liabilities, and identify and analyze potential variances to budget and forecast. Prepare reports, with statistical analysis, valuation analysis and financial modeling, including graphics and other supporting textual material and using various available databases. Prepare reports to summarize and forecast corporate clients' project activities and financial position in the area of income, expenses, and earnings. Analyze and interpret financial information based on review of corporate clients' financial statements and information, and provide recommendations for management to determine if terms of capital factor distribution and/or invoicing terms would result in profit. Analyze the financial implications of corporate clients' policy and operation modifications.

Education Requirement: Master degree in Business Administration or Finance.

Experience Requirement: None.

To Apply, send resume to:
Attn. Yvette Yang
Koo, Chow & Company LLP
767 N. Hill St., Suite 500
Los Angeles, CA 90012